The background of the cover is a photograph of a grand, classical-style entrance to a building at night. The entrance is framed by a large, ornate archway supported by two columns. The interior of the archway is brightly lit, revealing a chandelier and a glimpse of the interior. The building's facade is a light color, and the sky is a deep blue. Palm trees are visible on either side of the entrance.

*S*ense and sensitivity... Art, eloquence and refined comfort... Whether classical or contemporary – or a unique hybrid of both – a room designed by Kira Krümm evokes such descriptions. Through her artistic vision and approach, such common elements as finishes, furniture and fixtures join together to create a visual symphony, with a melody and tempo suited to each individual client.

"I approach interior design as an artist," Krümm explains. "I view each room as a painting, concentrating on such compositional elements as color, texture, repetition and balance. My clients come to me for my ability to create a home ideally suited to their tastes and needs, but above all they seek the trained eye of a designer who can create beauty. It is my joyous challenge to fulfill their dreams."

Krümm admits her greatest education has come from years of working with discriminating clients. She works closely with them to design environments that are aesthetically pleasing, emotionally satisfying and supremely functional. As her numerous awards clearly indicate, Kira Krümm's passion for artistry and disciplined approach create unparalleled homes. "My clients are sophisticated and well traveled," she explains. "When they can afford to go anywhere in the world but prefer to stay home, I know I have succeeded."
